CONTENTS

Special Issue: Advances in Mass Spectrometry—Proceedings of the 12th International Mass Spectrometry Conference held in Amsterdam, 26–30 August 1991

Preface ix

Mass spectrometers: instrumentation
R.G. Cooks, S.H. Hoke II, K.L. Morand and S.A. Lammert (West Lafayette, IN, USA) . . 1
Fourier transform ion cyclotron resonance mass spectrometry: technique developments
A.G. Marshall and L. Schweikhard (Columbus, OH, USA) 37
Ion trap mass spectrometry
R.E. March (Peterborough, Ont., Canada) 71
Charge-remote fragmentations: method, mechanism and applications
M.L. Gross (Lincoln, NE, USA). 137
Reactions and properties of clusters
A.W. Castleman, Jr. (University Park, PA, USA) 167
Multiphoton and soft X-ray ionization mass spectrometry
U. Boesl, J. Grotemeyer, K. Müller-Dethlefs, H.J. Neusser, H.L. Selzle and E.W. Schlag (Garching, Germany). 191
Neutralization–reionization mass spectrometry
F.W. McLafferty (Ithaca, NY, USA). 221
Recent applications of mass spectrometry in forensic toxicology
R.L. Foltz (Salt Lake City, UT, USA) 237
Desorption methods in mass spectrometry
Bo.U.R. Sundqvist (Uppsala, Sweden) 265
Advances in the application of mass spectrometry to studies of drug metabolism, pharmacokinetics and toxicology
T.A. Baillie (Seattle, WA, USA) 289
Recent developments in applications of RRKM-QET
C. Lifshitz (Jerusalem, Israel) 315
The chemistry of gas-phase ions: a theoretical approach
L. Radom (Canberra, A.C.T., Australia) 339
Mass Spectrometry and the environmental sciences
R.A. Hites (Bloomington, IN, USA) 369
The present state and utility of ion thermochemistry
J.L. Holmes (Ottowa, Ont., Canada) 381
Gas-phase ion chemistry versus solution chemistry
M. Speranza (Viterbo, Italy) 395
Continuous-flow fast atom bombardment: recent advances and applications
R.M. Caprioli and M.J.-F. Suter (Houston, TX, USA) 449
New technologies for small sample stable isotope measurement: static vacuum gas source mass spectrometry, laser probes, ion probes and gas chromatography—isotope ratio mass spectrometry
C.T. Pillinger (Milton Keynes, UK) 477
Advances in flowing afterglow and selected-ion flow tube techniques
R.R. Squires (West Lafayette, IN, USA) 503
Plasma source mass spectrometry
G.M. Hieftje and L.A. Norman (Bloomington, IN, USA). 519
Isotope dilution mass spectrometry
K.G. Heumann (Regensburg, Germany) 575

Progress in mass spectrometry of nucleic acid constituents: analysis of xenobiotic modifications and measurement at high mass
J.A. McCloskey and P.F. Crain (Salt Lake City, UT, USA) 593
Studies of ion structures by photodissociation
W.J. van der Hart (Leiden, Netherlands) 617
"High masses"
T. Matsuo, T. Sakurai, H. Ito and Y. Wada (Osaka, Japan) 635
Dynamics of ion/molecule reactions
R. Marx (Orsay, France) 661
Trends in biochemical and biomedical applications of mass spectrometry
E. Gelpi (Barcelona, Spain) 683
Quantitative biomedical mass spectrometry
A.P. De Leenheer and L.M. Thienpont (Gent, Belgium) 723
High temperature studies
L.N. Sidorov (Moscow, Russian Federation) 739
Analytical pyrolysis mass spectrometry: new vistas opened by temperature-resolved in-source PYMS
J.J. Boon (Amsterdam, Netherlands) 755
Status of, and developments in, mass spectrometry of peptides and proteins
P. Roepstorff and W.J. Richter (Odense, Denmark) 789
Chemometrics in mass spectrometry
K. Varmuza (Vienna, Austria) 811
Unimolecular reaction mechanisms: the role of reactive intermediates
H.-F. Grützmacher (Bielefeld, Germany) 825
Hyphenated methods in mass spectrometry
J. van der Greef (Zeist, Netherlands) and W.M.A. Niessen (Leiden, Netherlands) 857
